Innovative Readiness Training: Origin

What if the Best Military Training Led to Ready Forces and Thriving American Communities?

Department of Defense Response to 1992 "Rebuild America" Initiative

"The American people have made an enormous investment in developing the skills, capabilities, and resources of the Armed Forces. These resources, if properly matched to local needs and coordinated with civilian efforts, can be a useful contribution to addressing the serious domestic needs of the United States." - 1993 Senate Armed Services Committee Report

- Authorized Under Title 10 U.S. Code §2012
- IRT is led by the Director, Civil-Military Engagement Policy, in the Office of the Deputy Assistant Secretary of Defense for Reserve Integration.
- IRT includes opportunities for Active, Guard, and Reserve Service Members, (and multi-national partners) to integrate as a joint and whole-of-society team to train and serve American communities

Innovative Readiness Training: Origin

IRT is the only federal DoD training program authorized to provide incidental benefit, in the form of support and services, to organizations or activities outside the DoD (normally our communities)

IRT is an OSD-level mission. It is funded across military service components.

IRT offers true joint training opportunities.

Mission Selection

- Mission selection is based upon:
  - Training opportunities for the military participants
  - The community application which demonstrates the best opportunities to meet the military participants training requirements
- Program Managers representing their branch of military service work with their units for training requirements

The Best Applications

- The application is complete
  - Required informational blocks are filled
  - Primary contact individual's phone and email are included
  - Document is signed by authorized individual
- If it is possible
  - Have the public affidavits finished and included
  - Include the Environmental Assessment(s) for Civil Engineering Missions
- Please remember: Include as much detail as possible about what you are looking for – the more options for training the military units have, the higher possibility for selection
